What are you noticing?

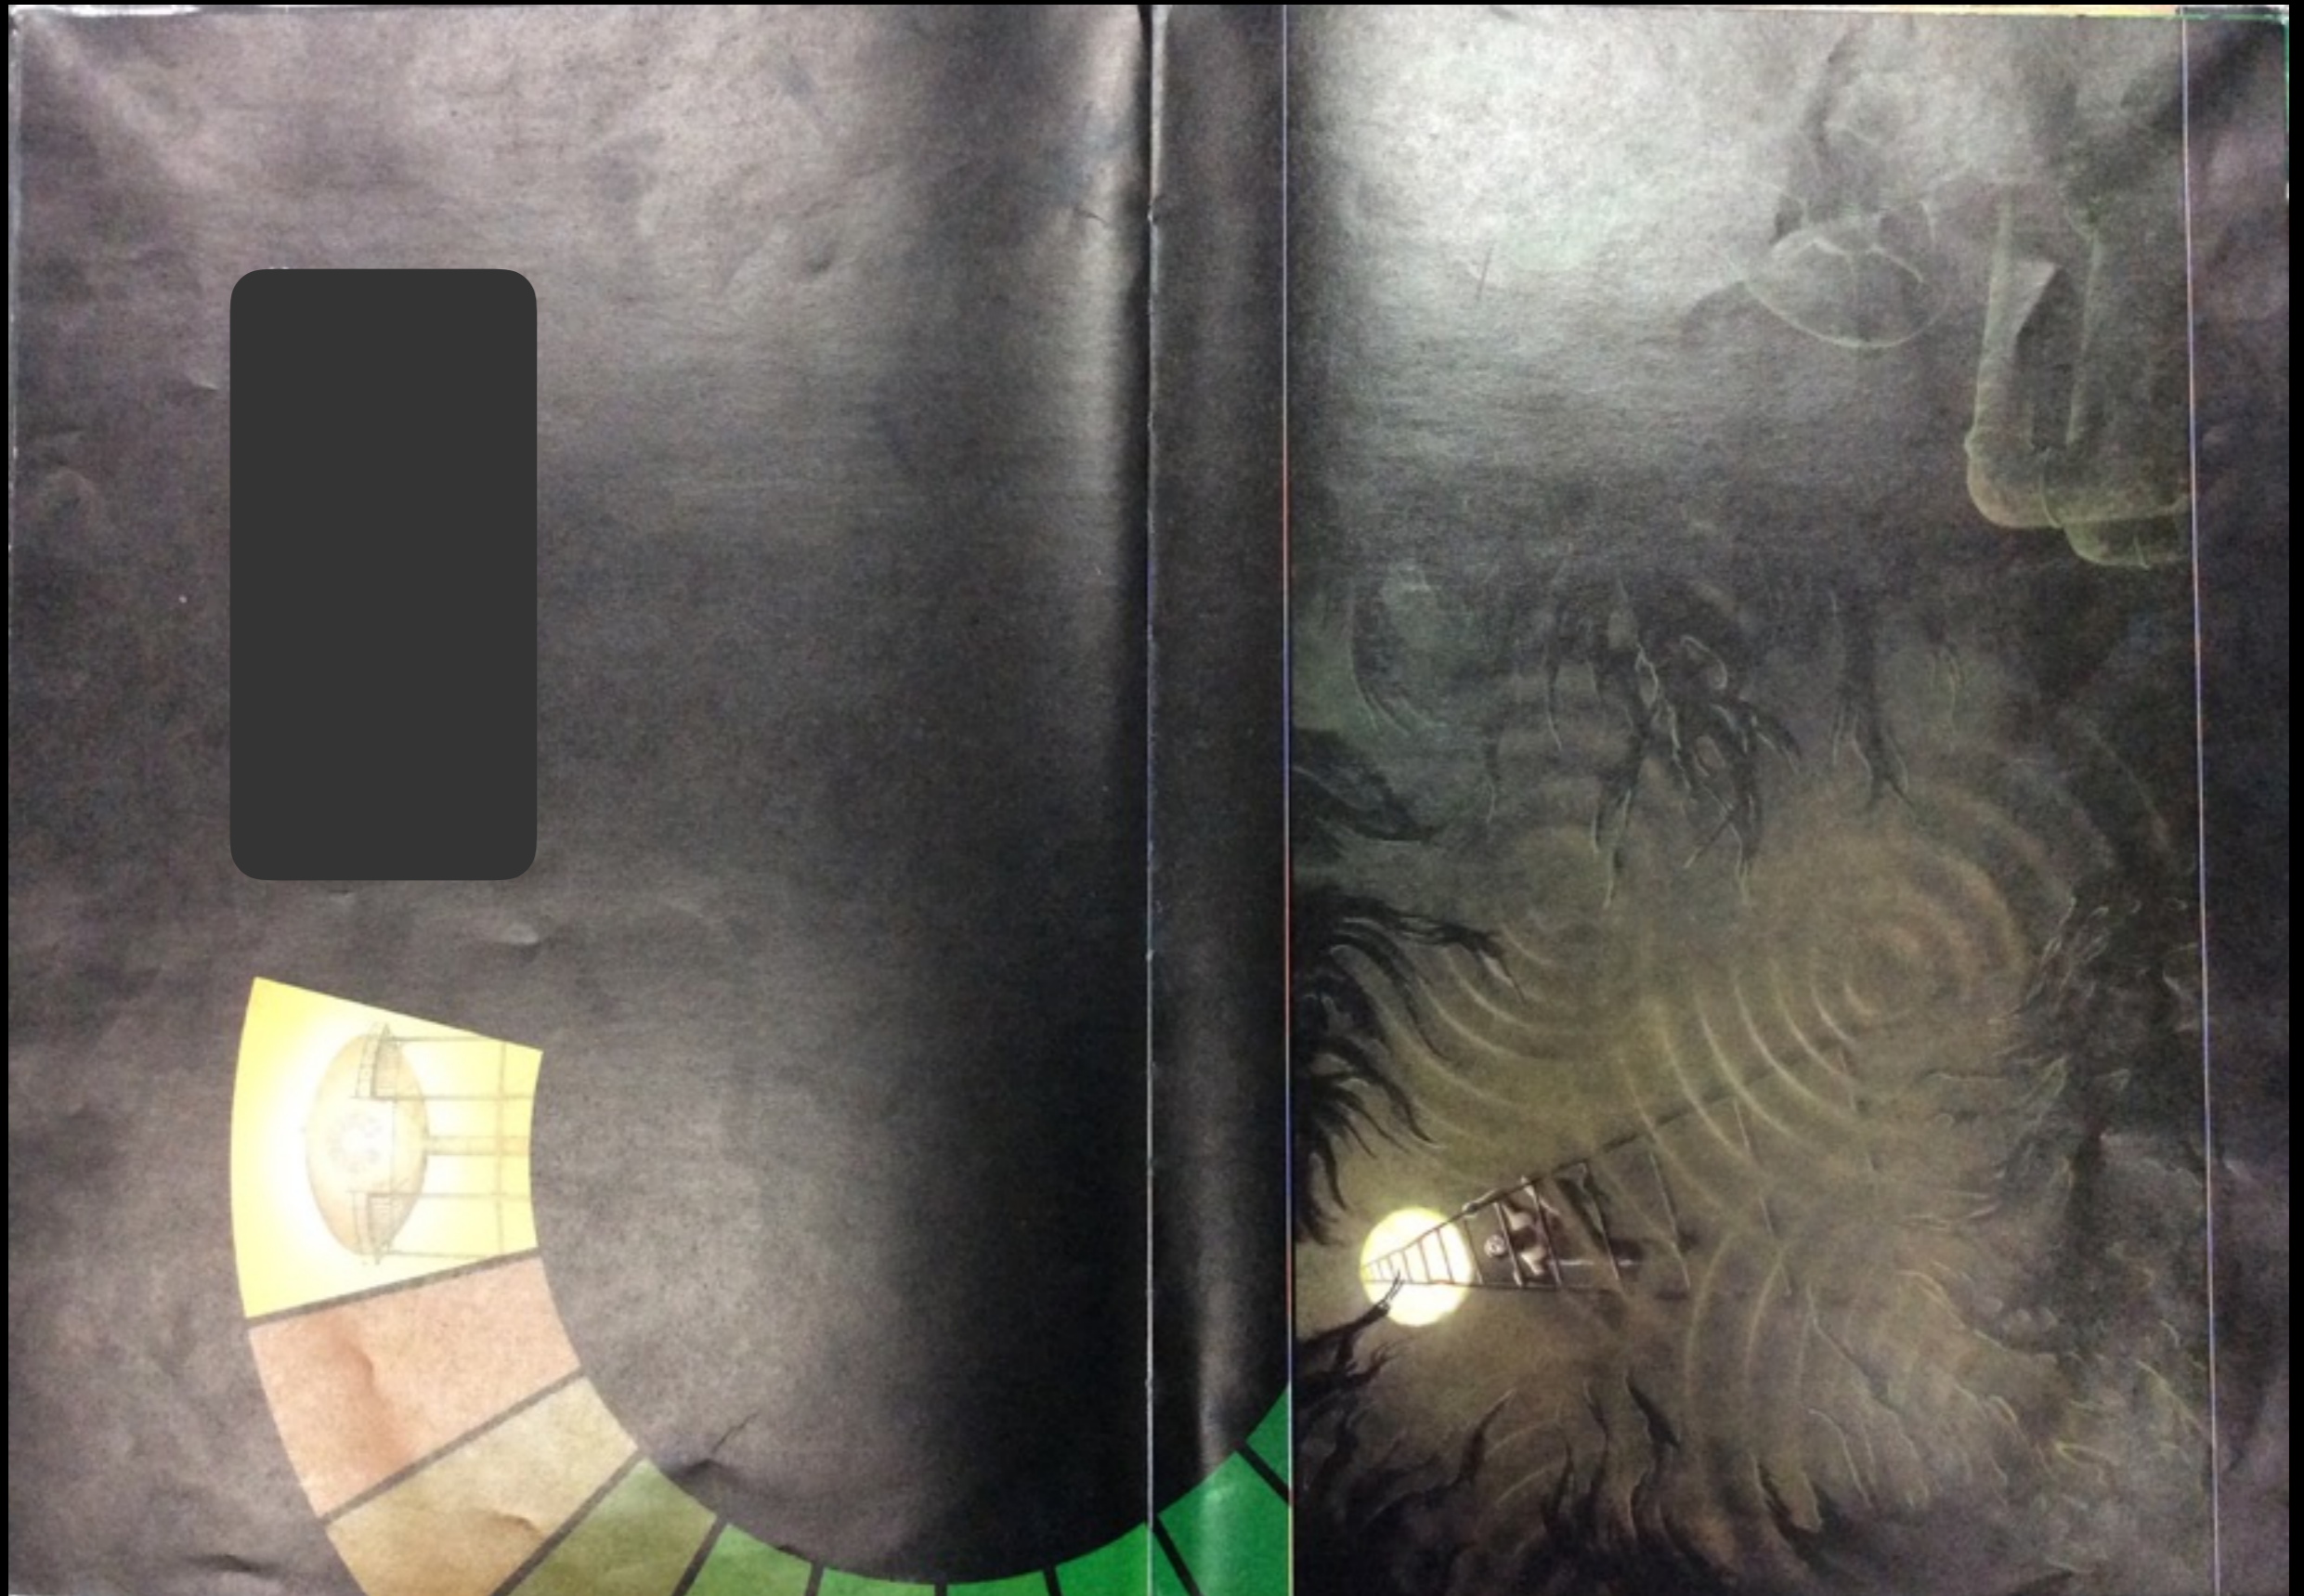

Look closely at the direction of the book.

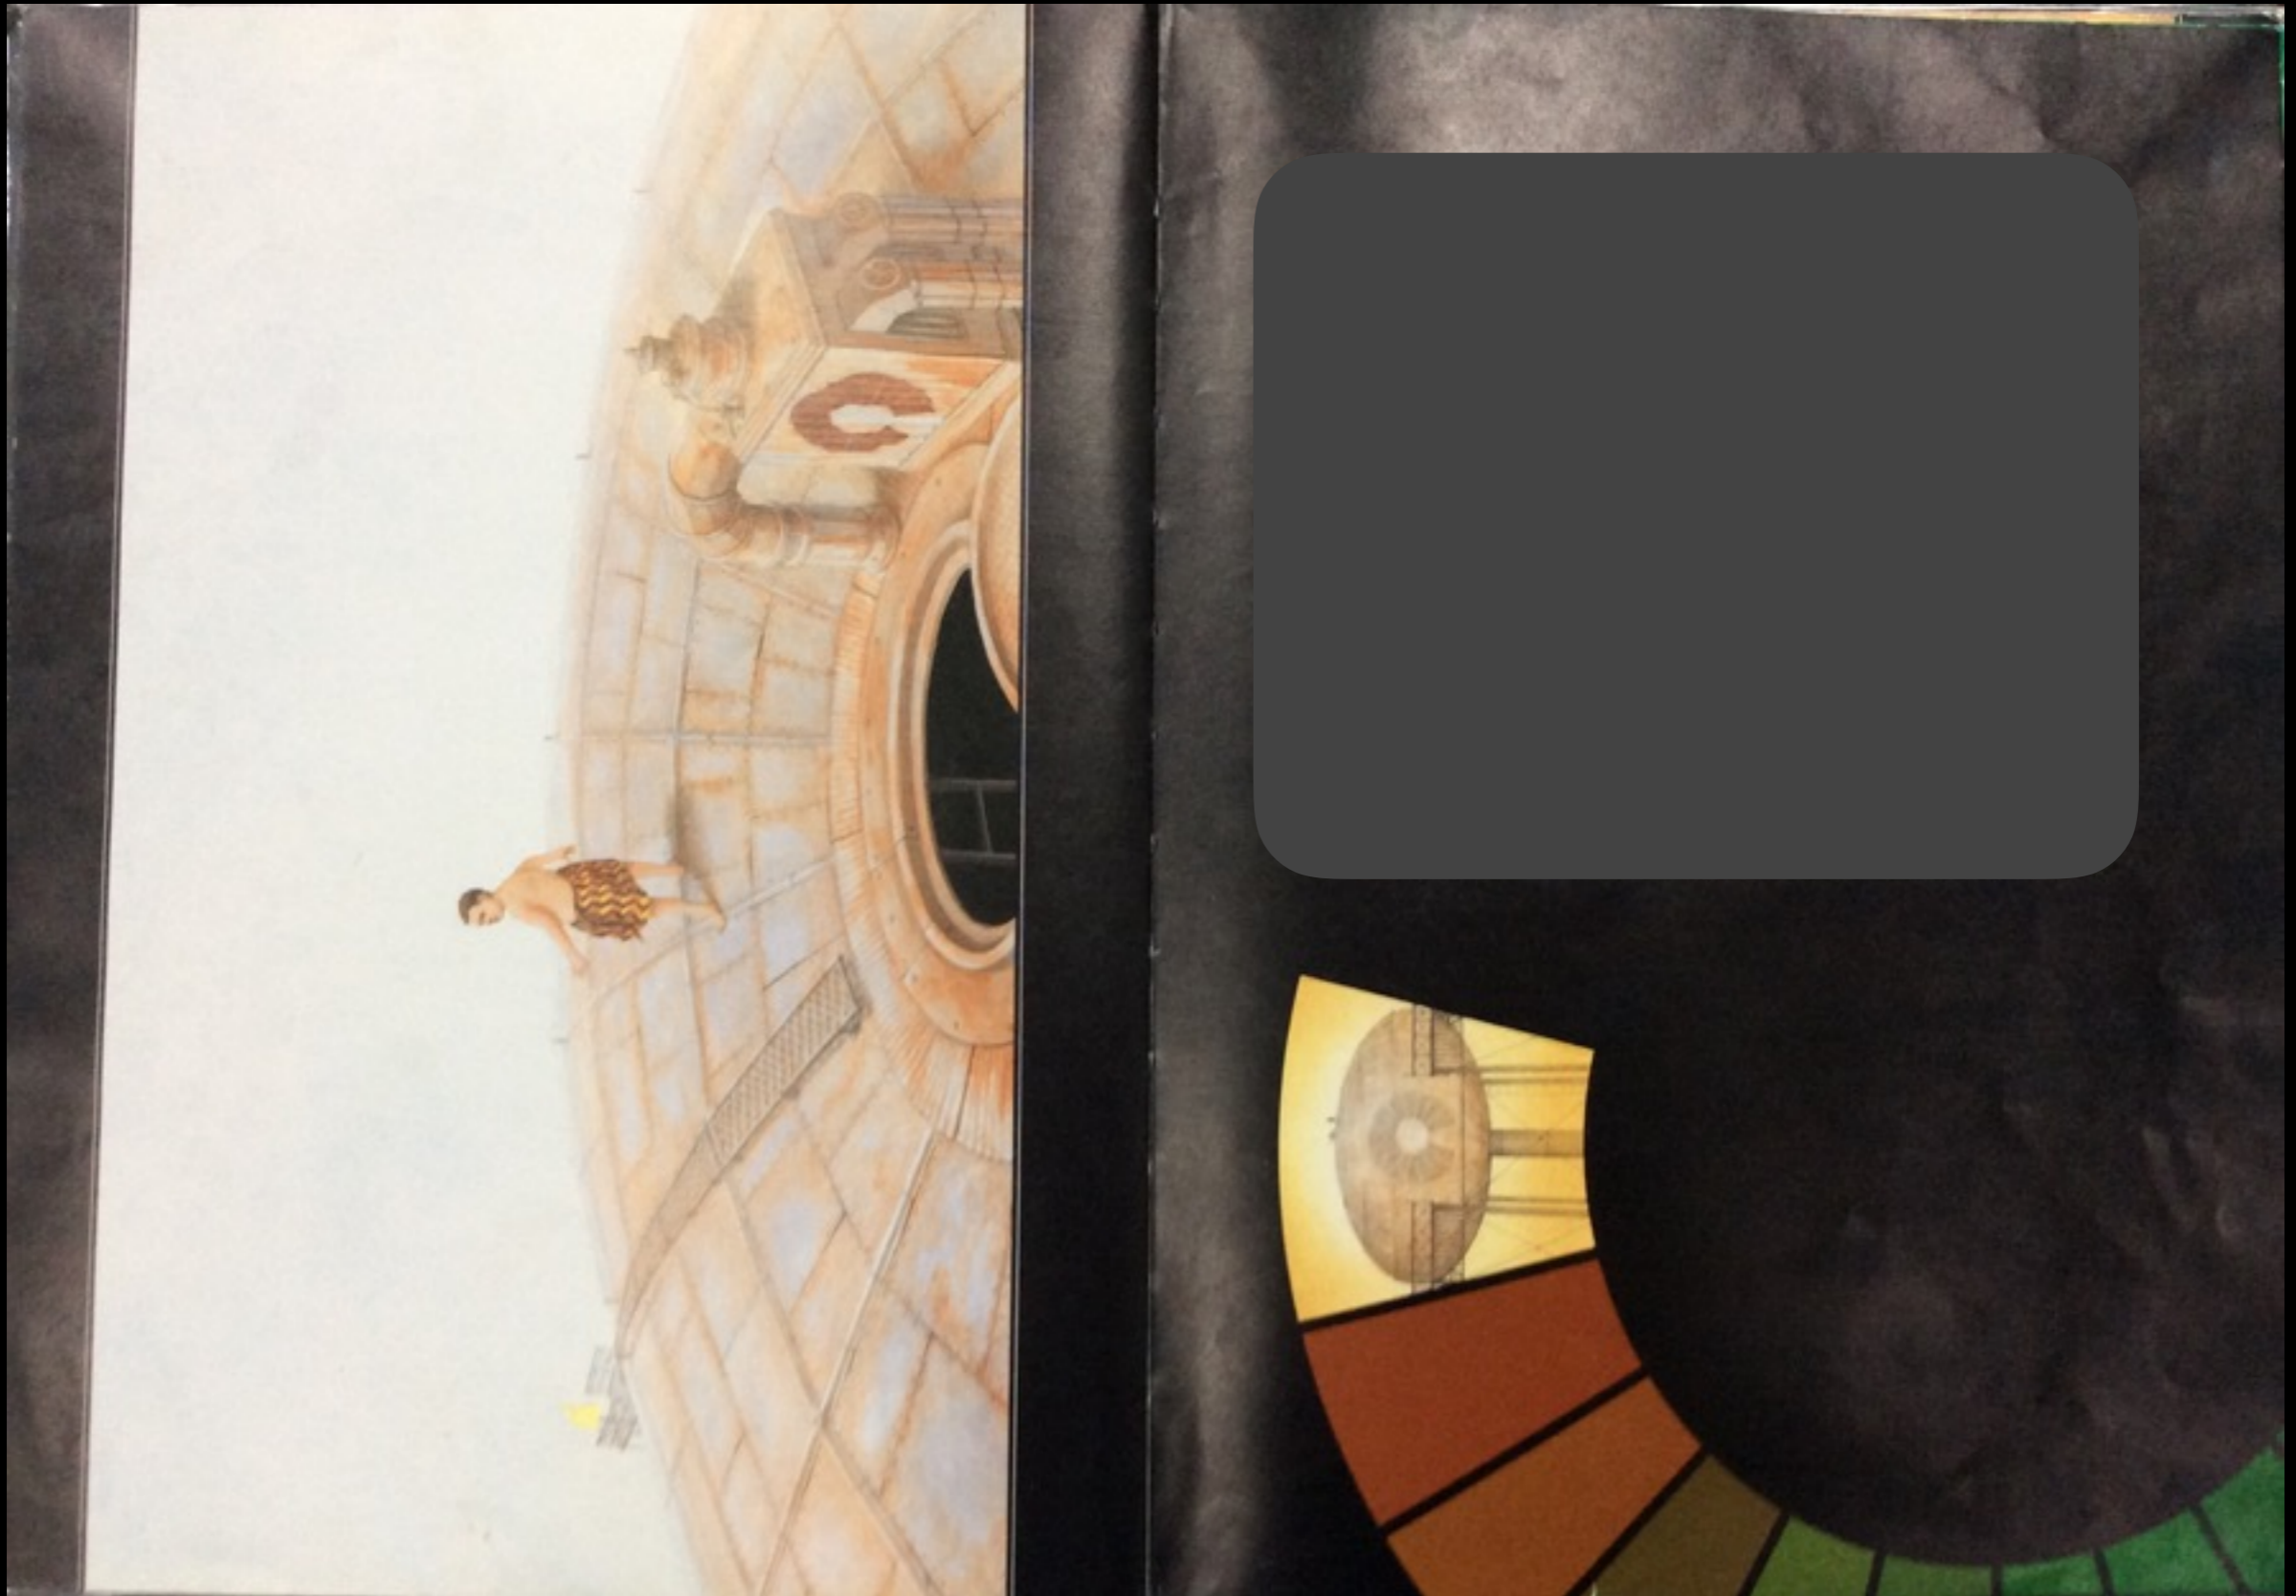

What are you feeling? What impression are you getting from the image?

Do you think he should be going into the water?

Why is he looking back?

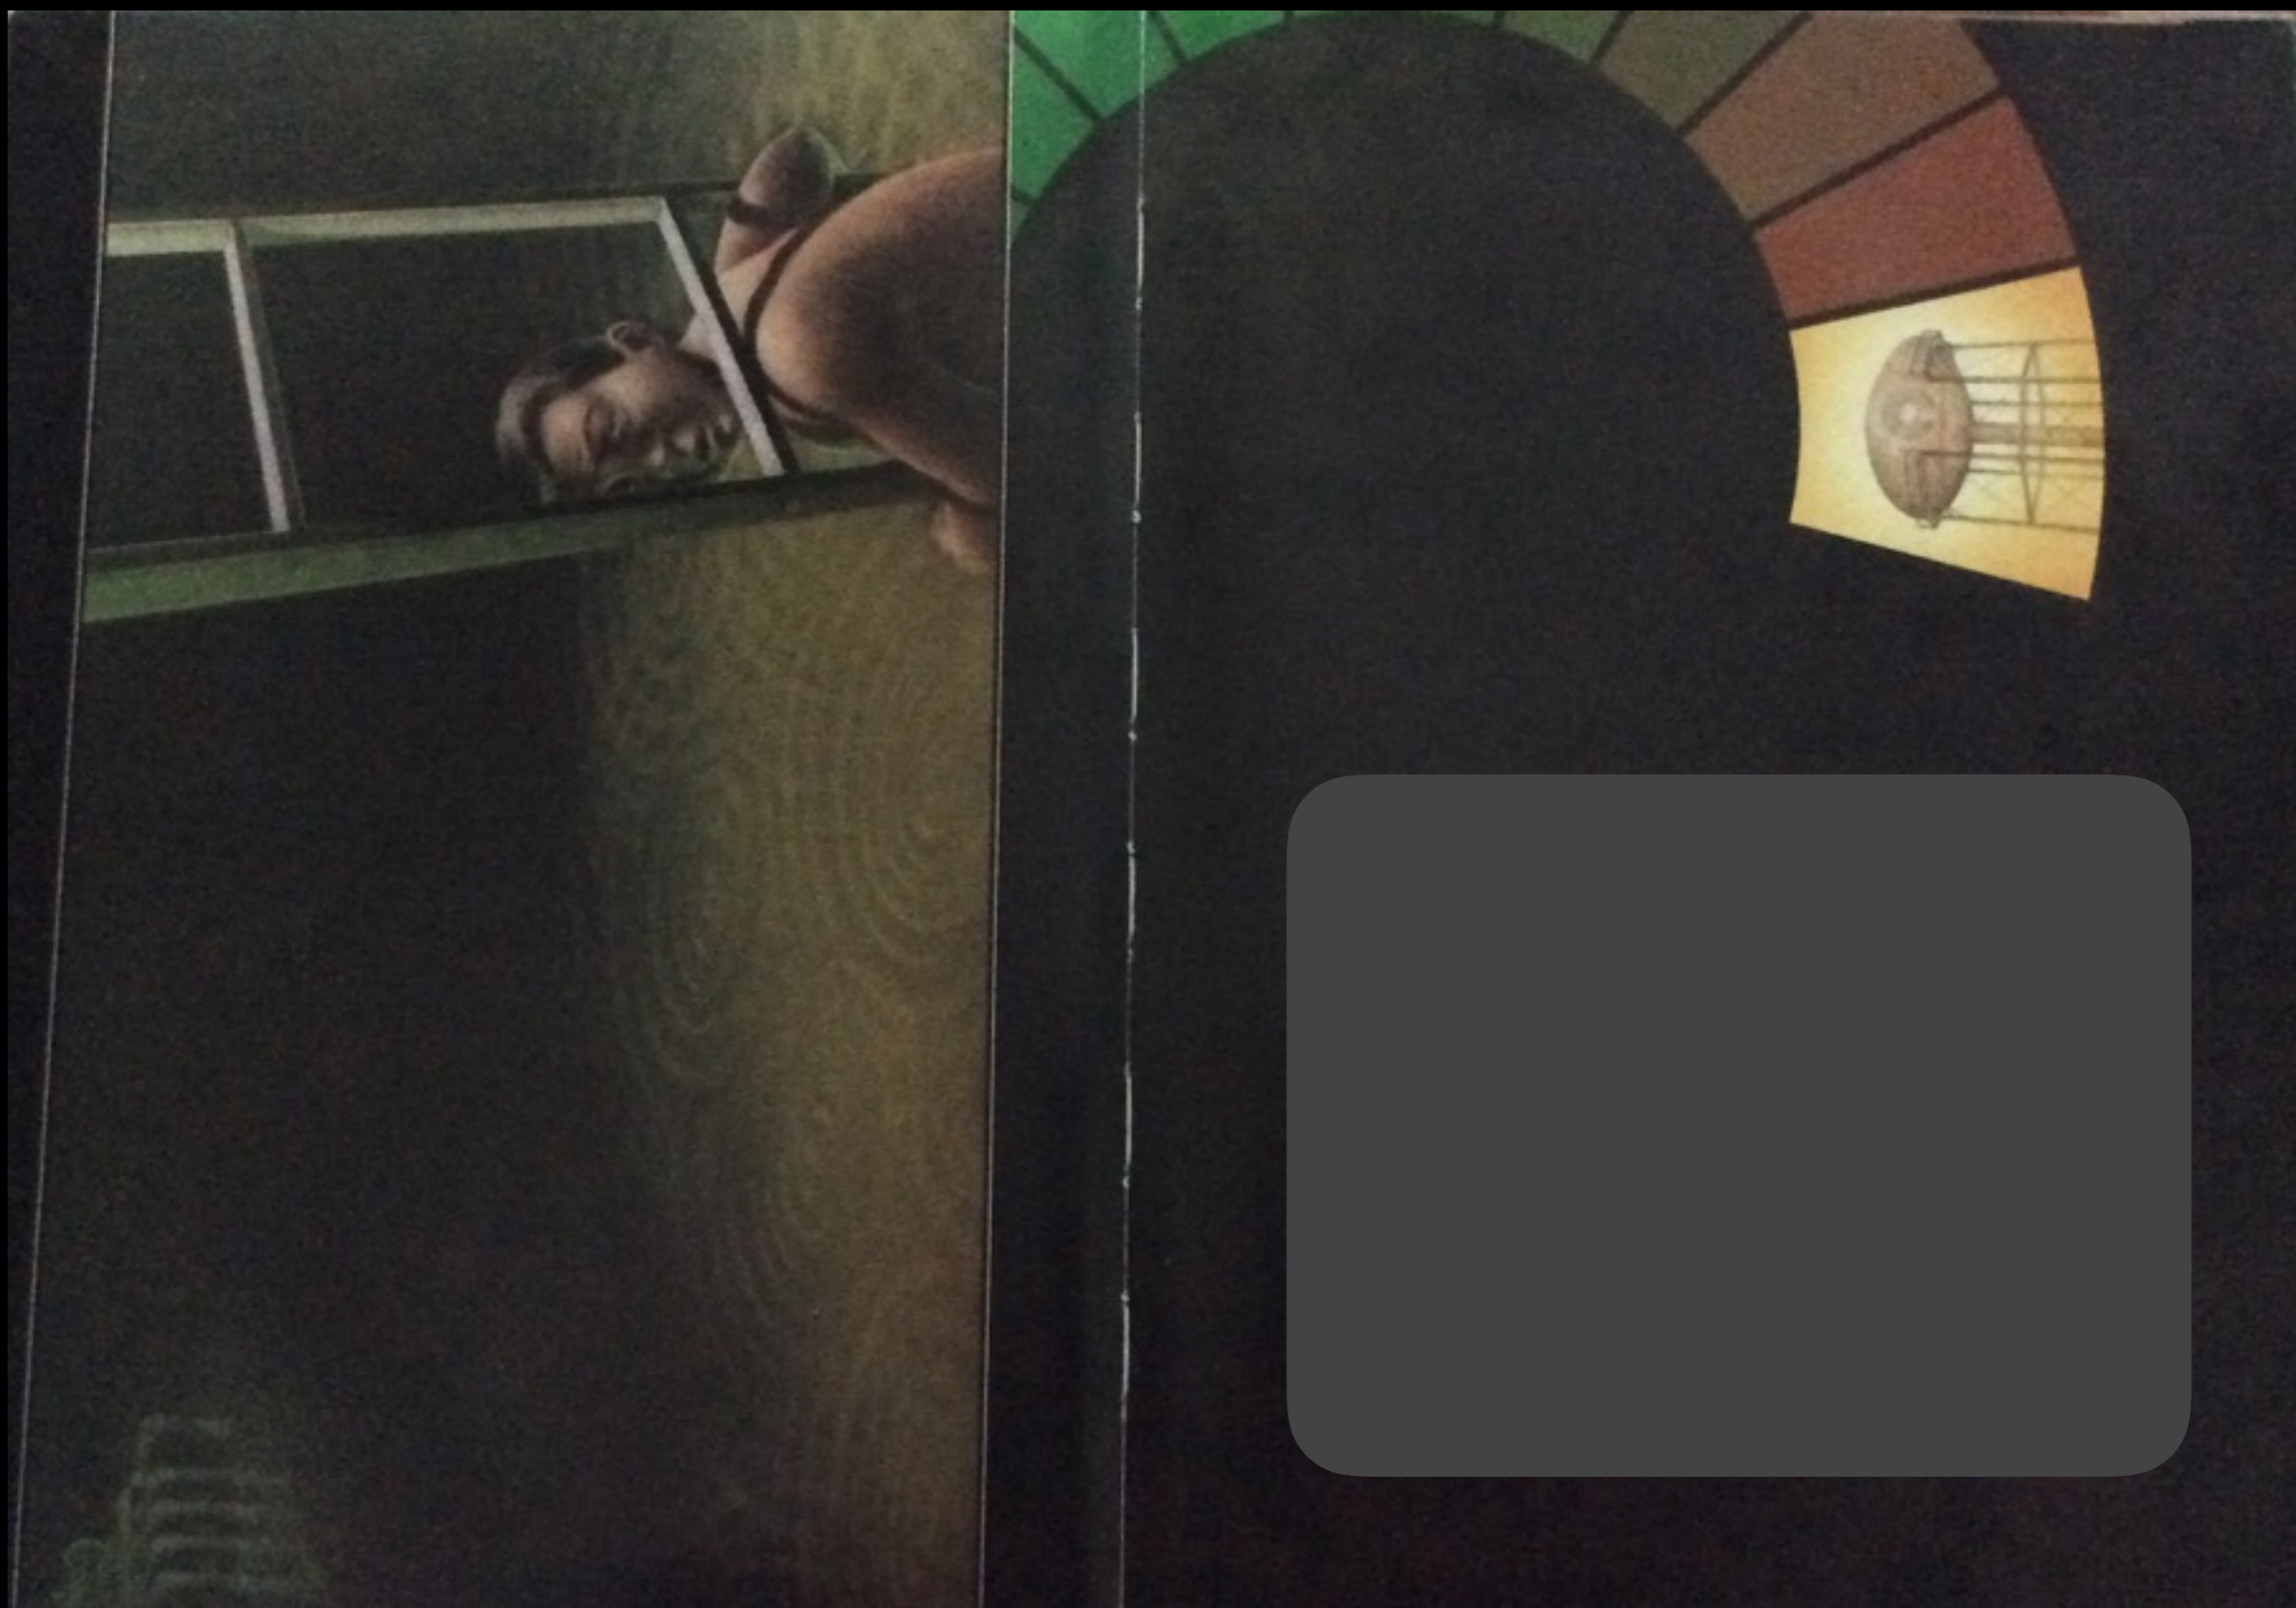

What do you think is happening here?

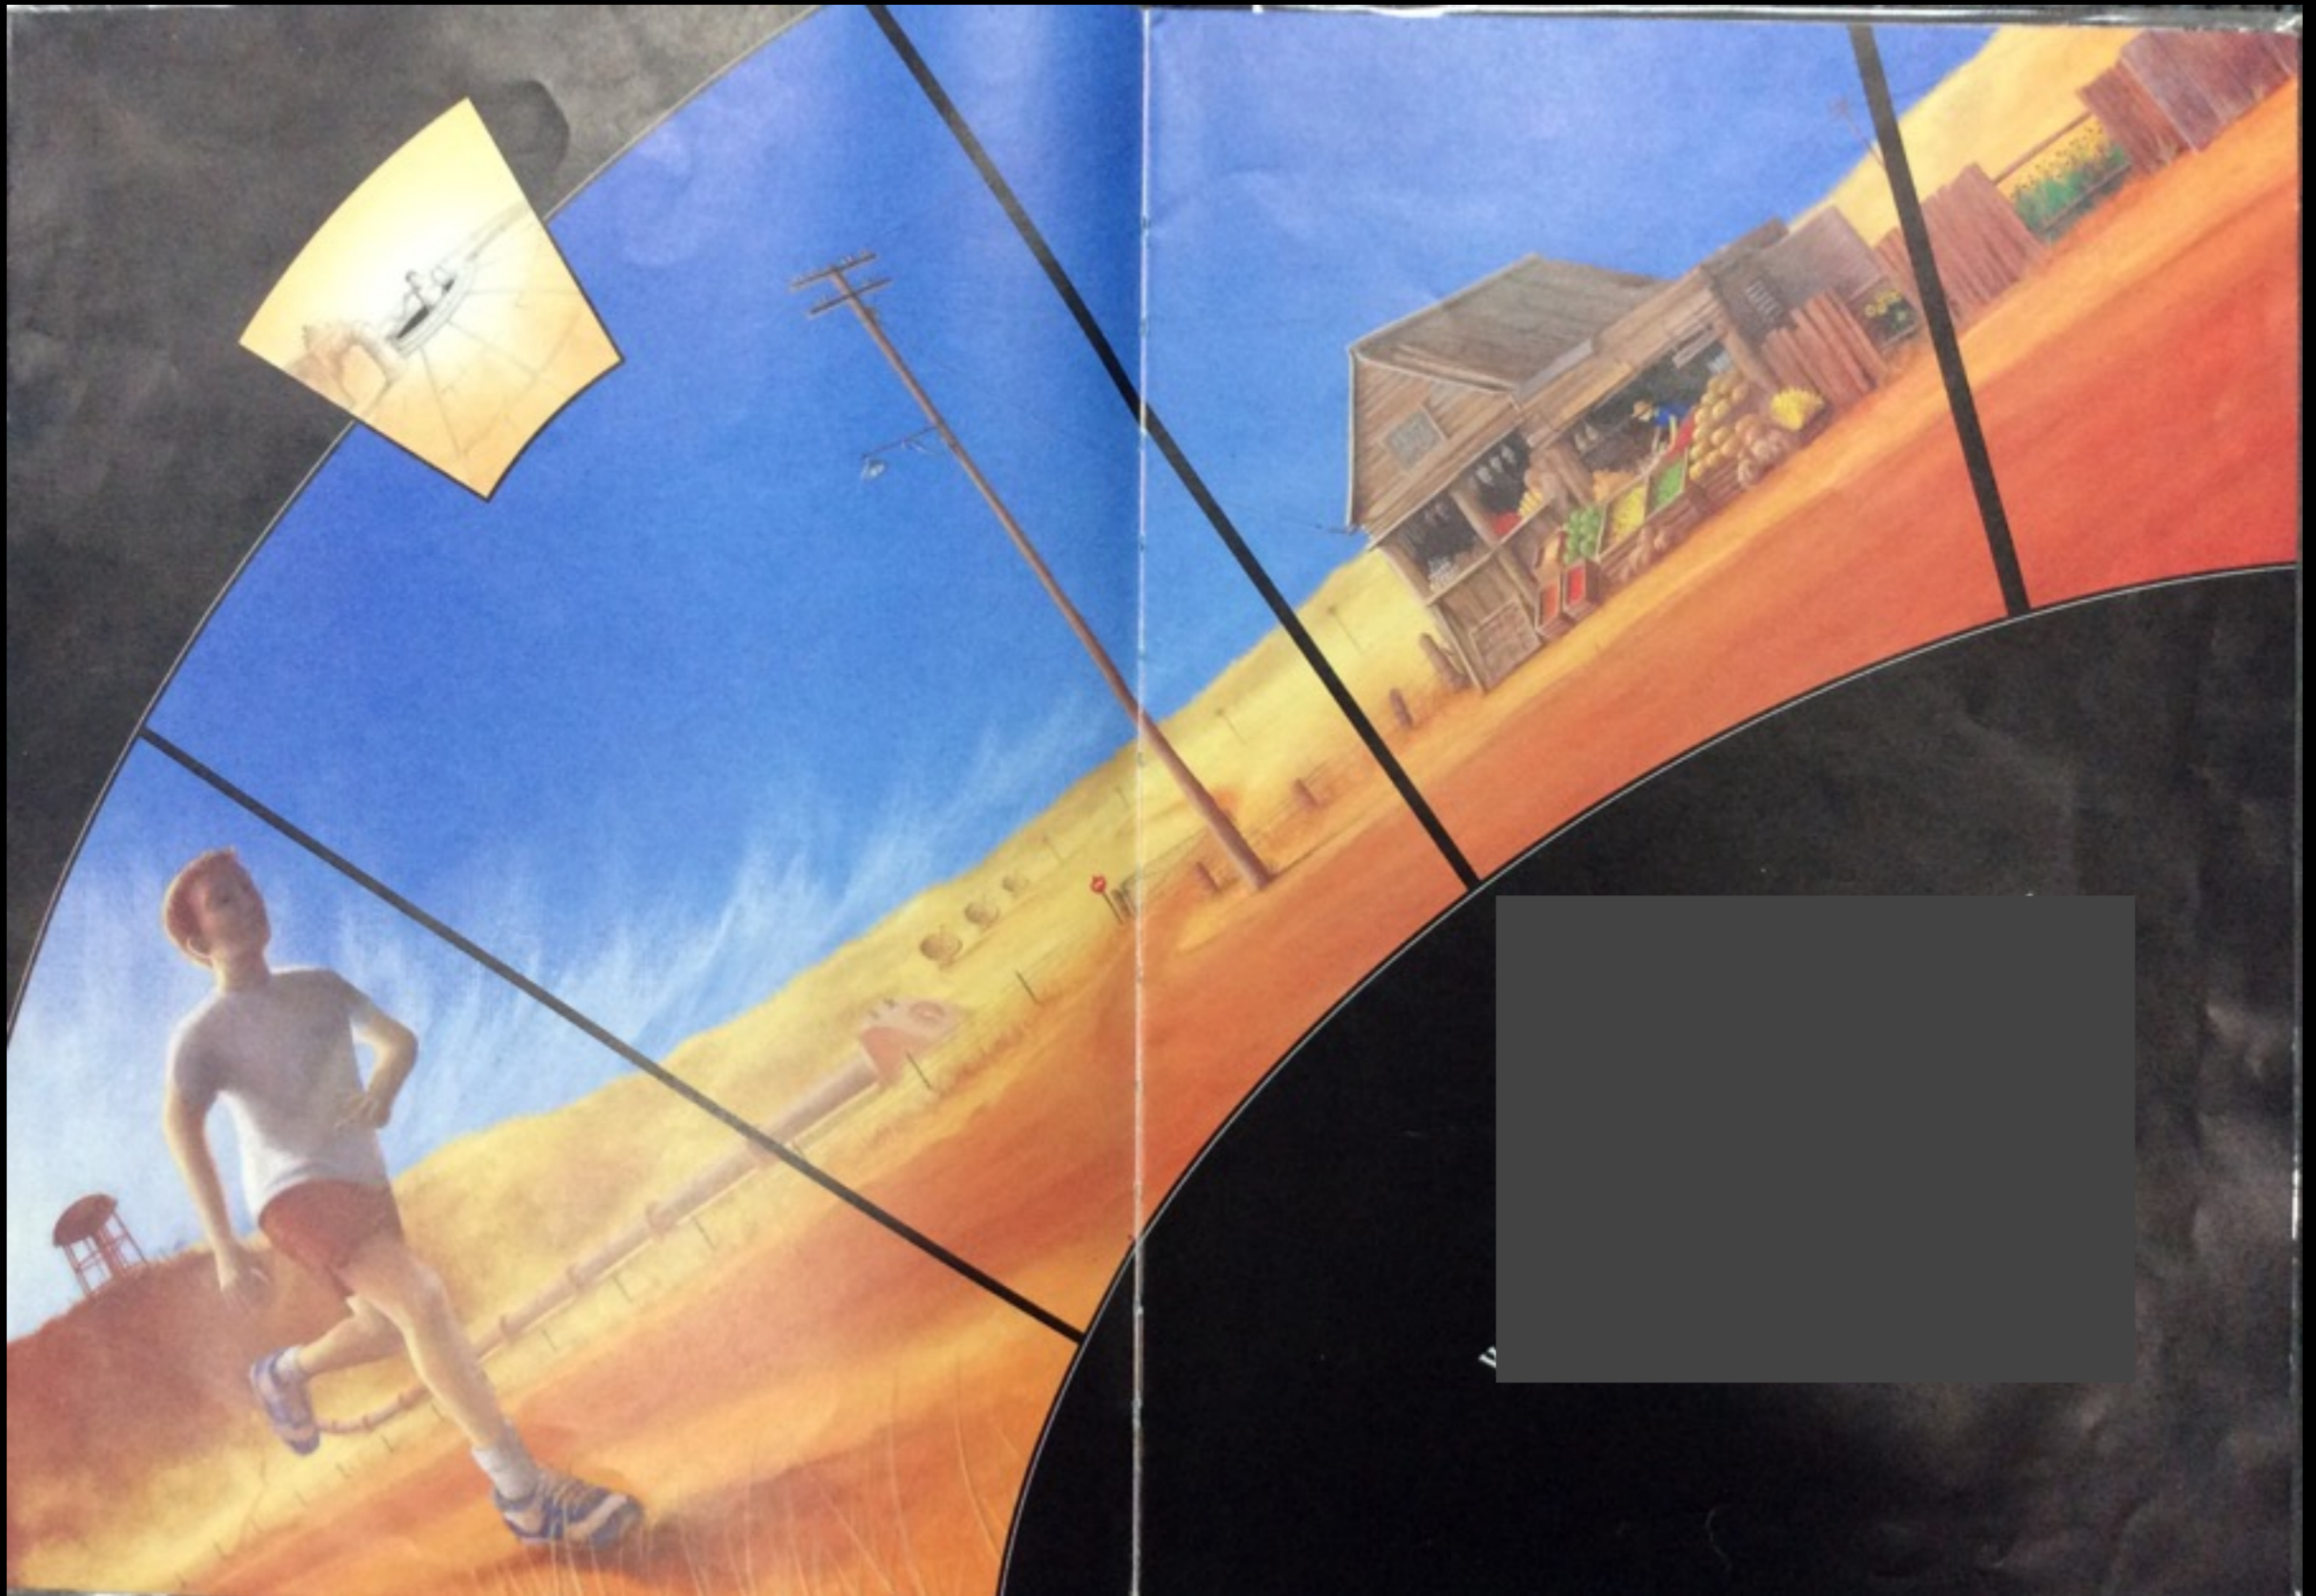

What are you seeing now?

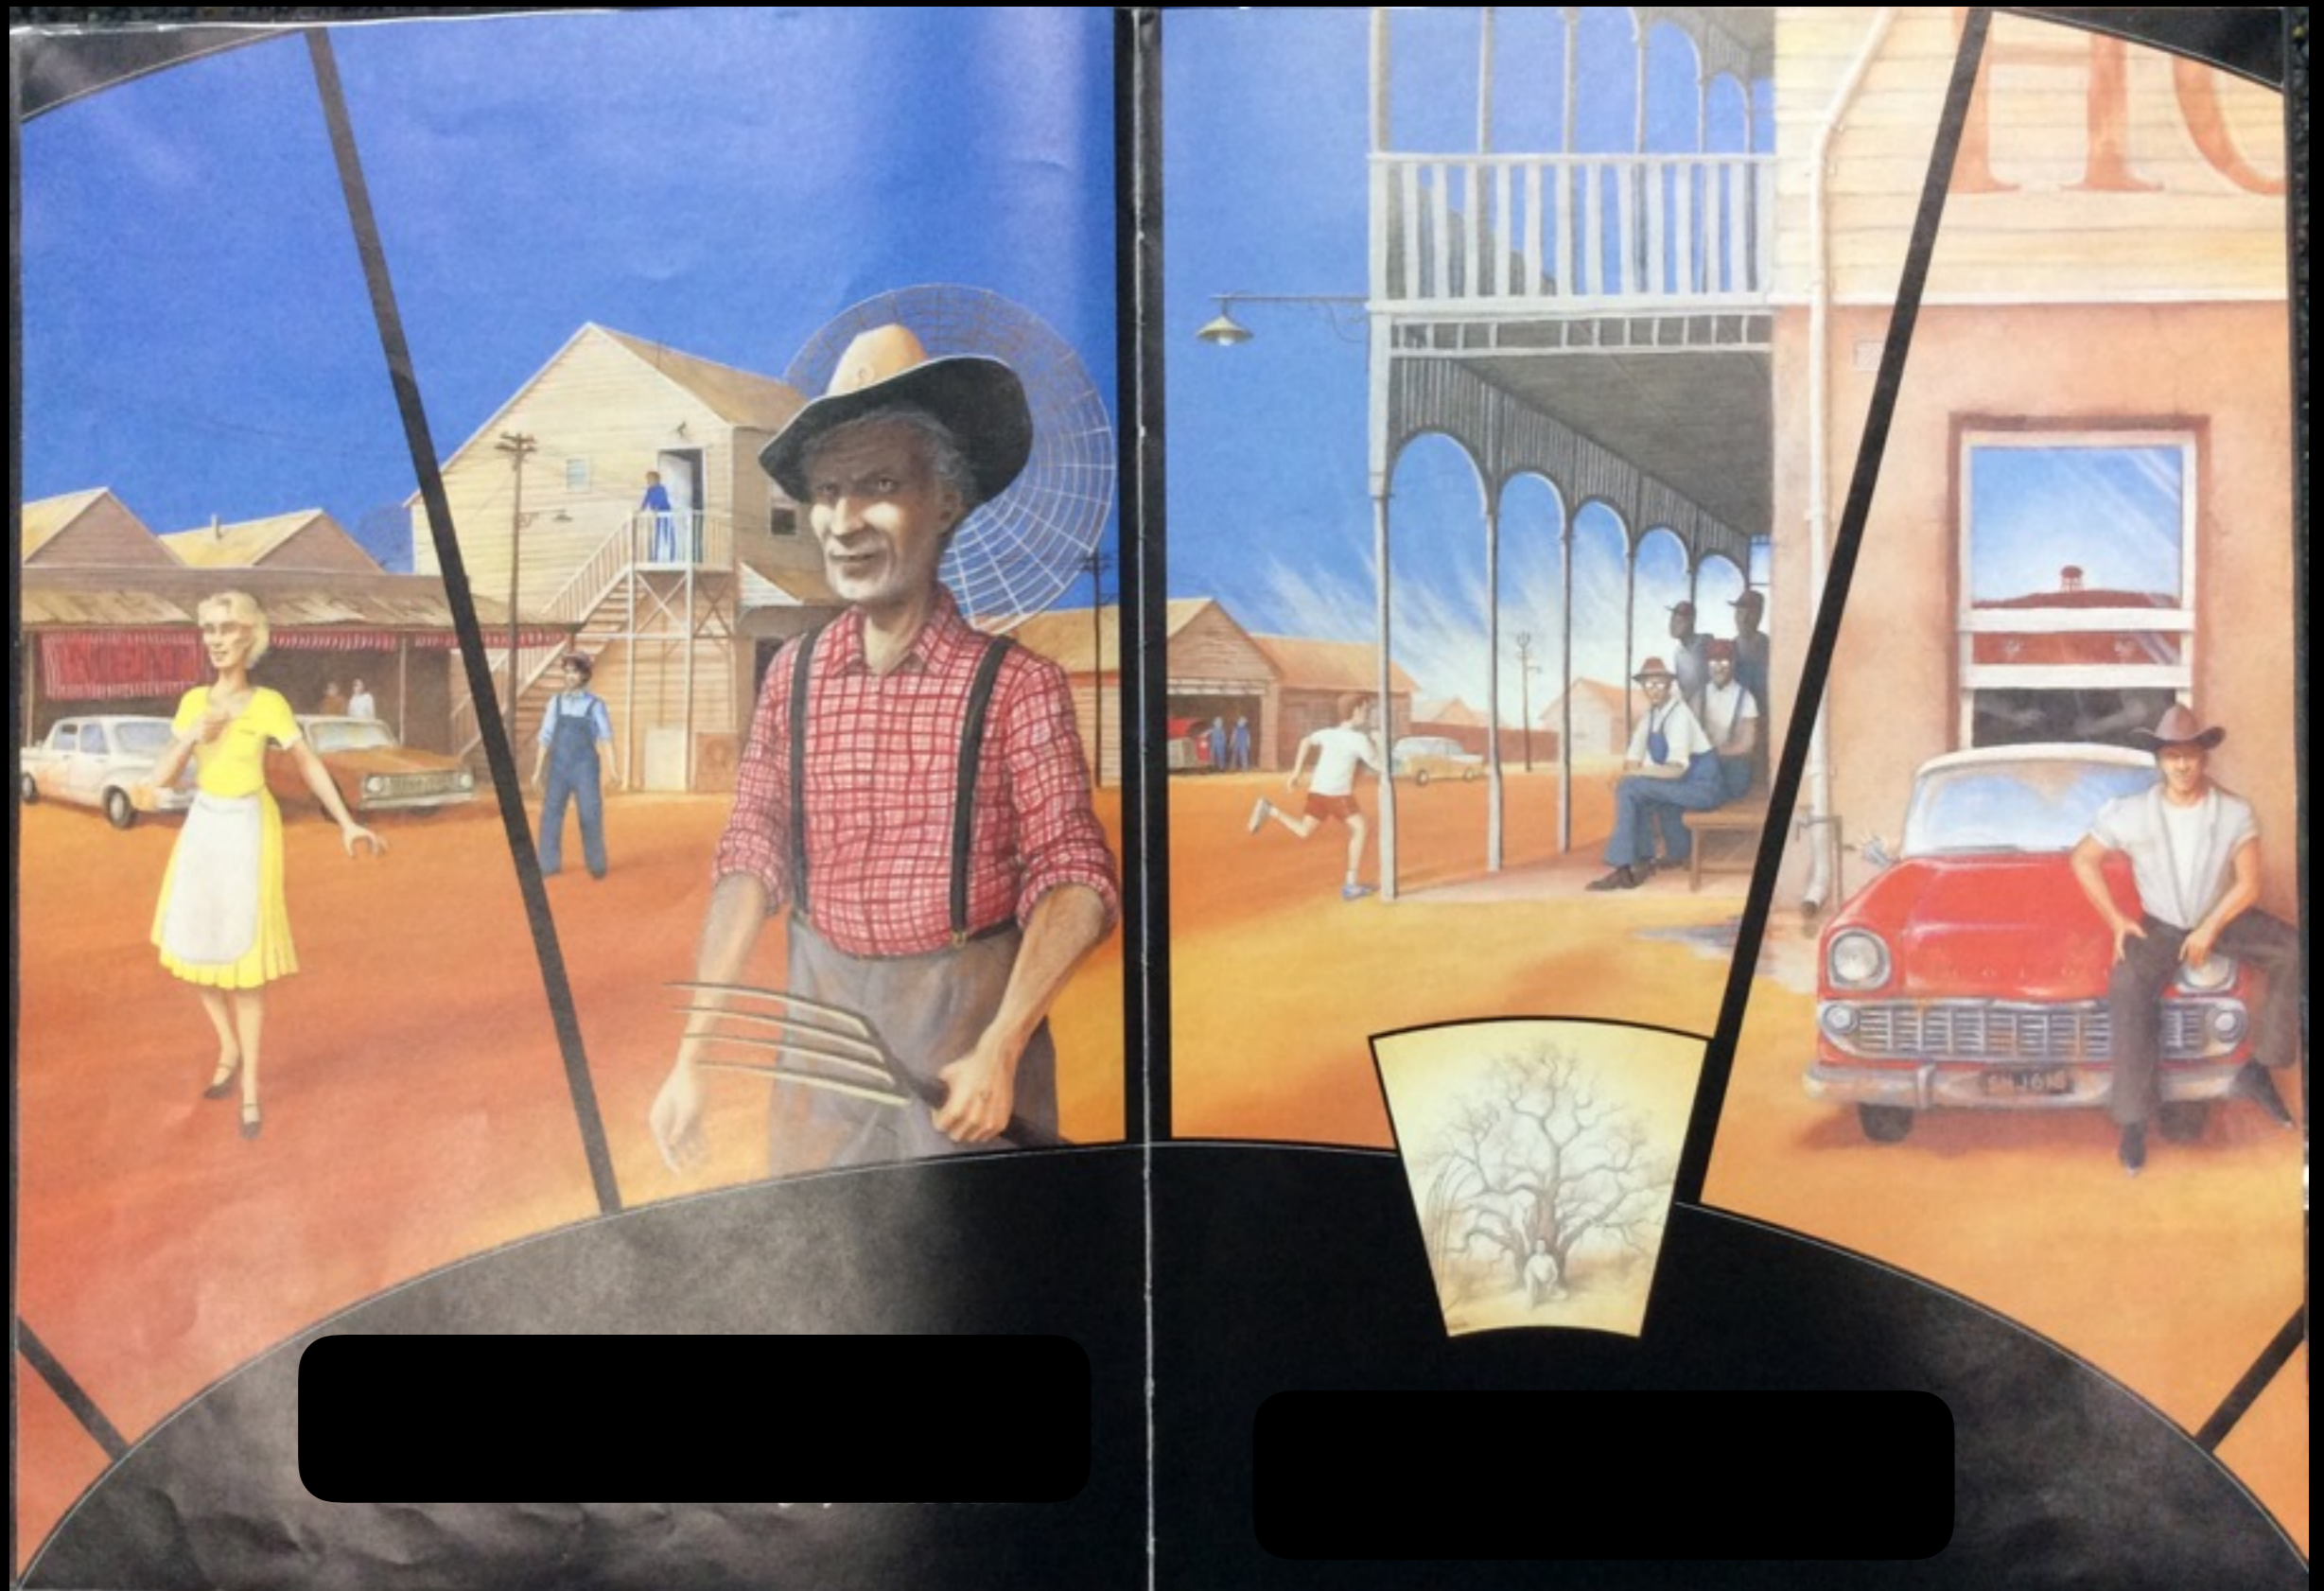

Why is the water tower always in a frame?

Where is he running or why is he running?

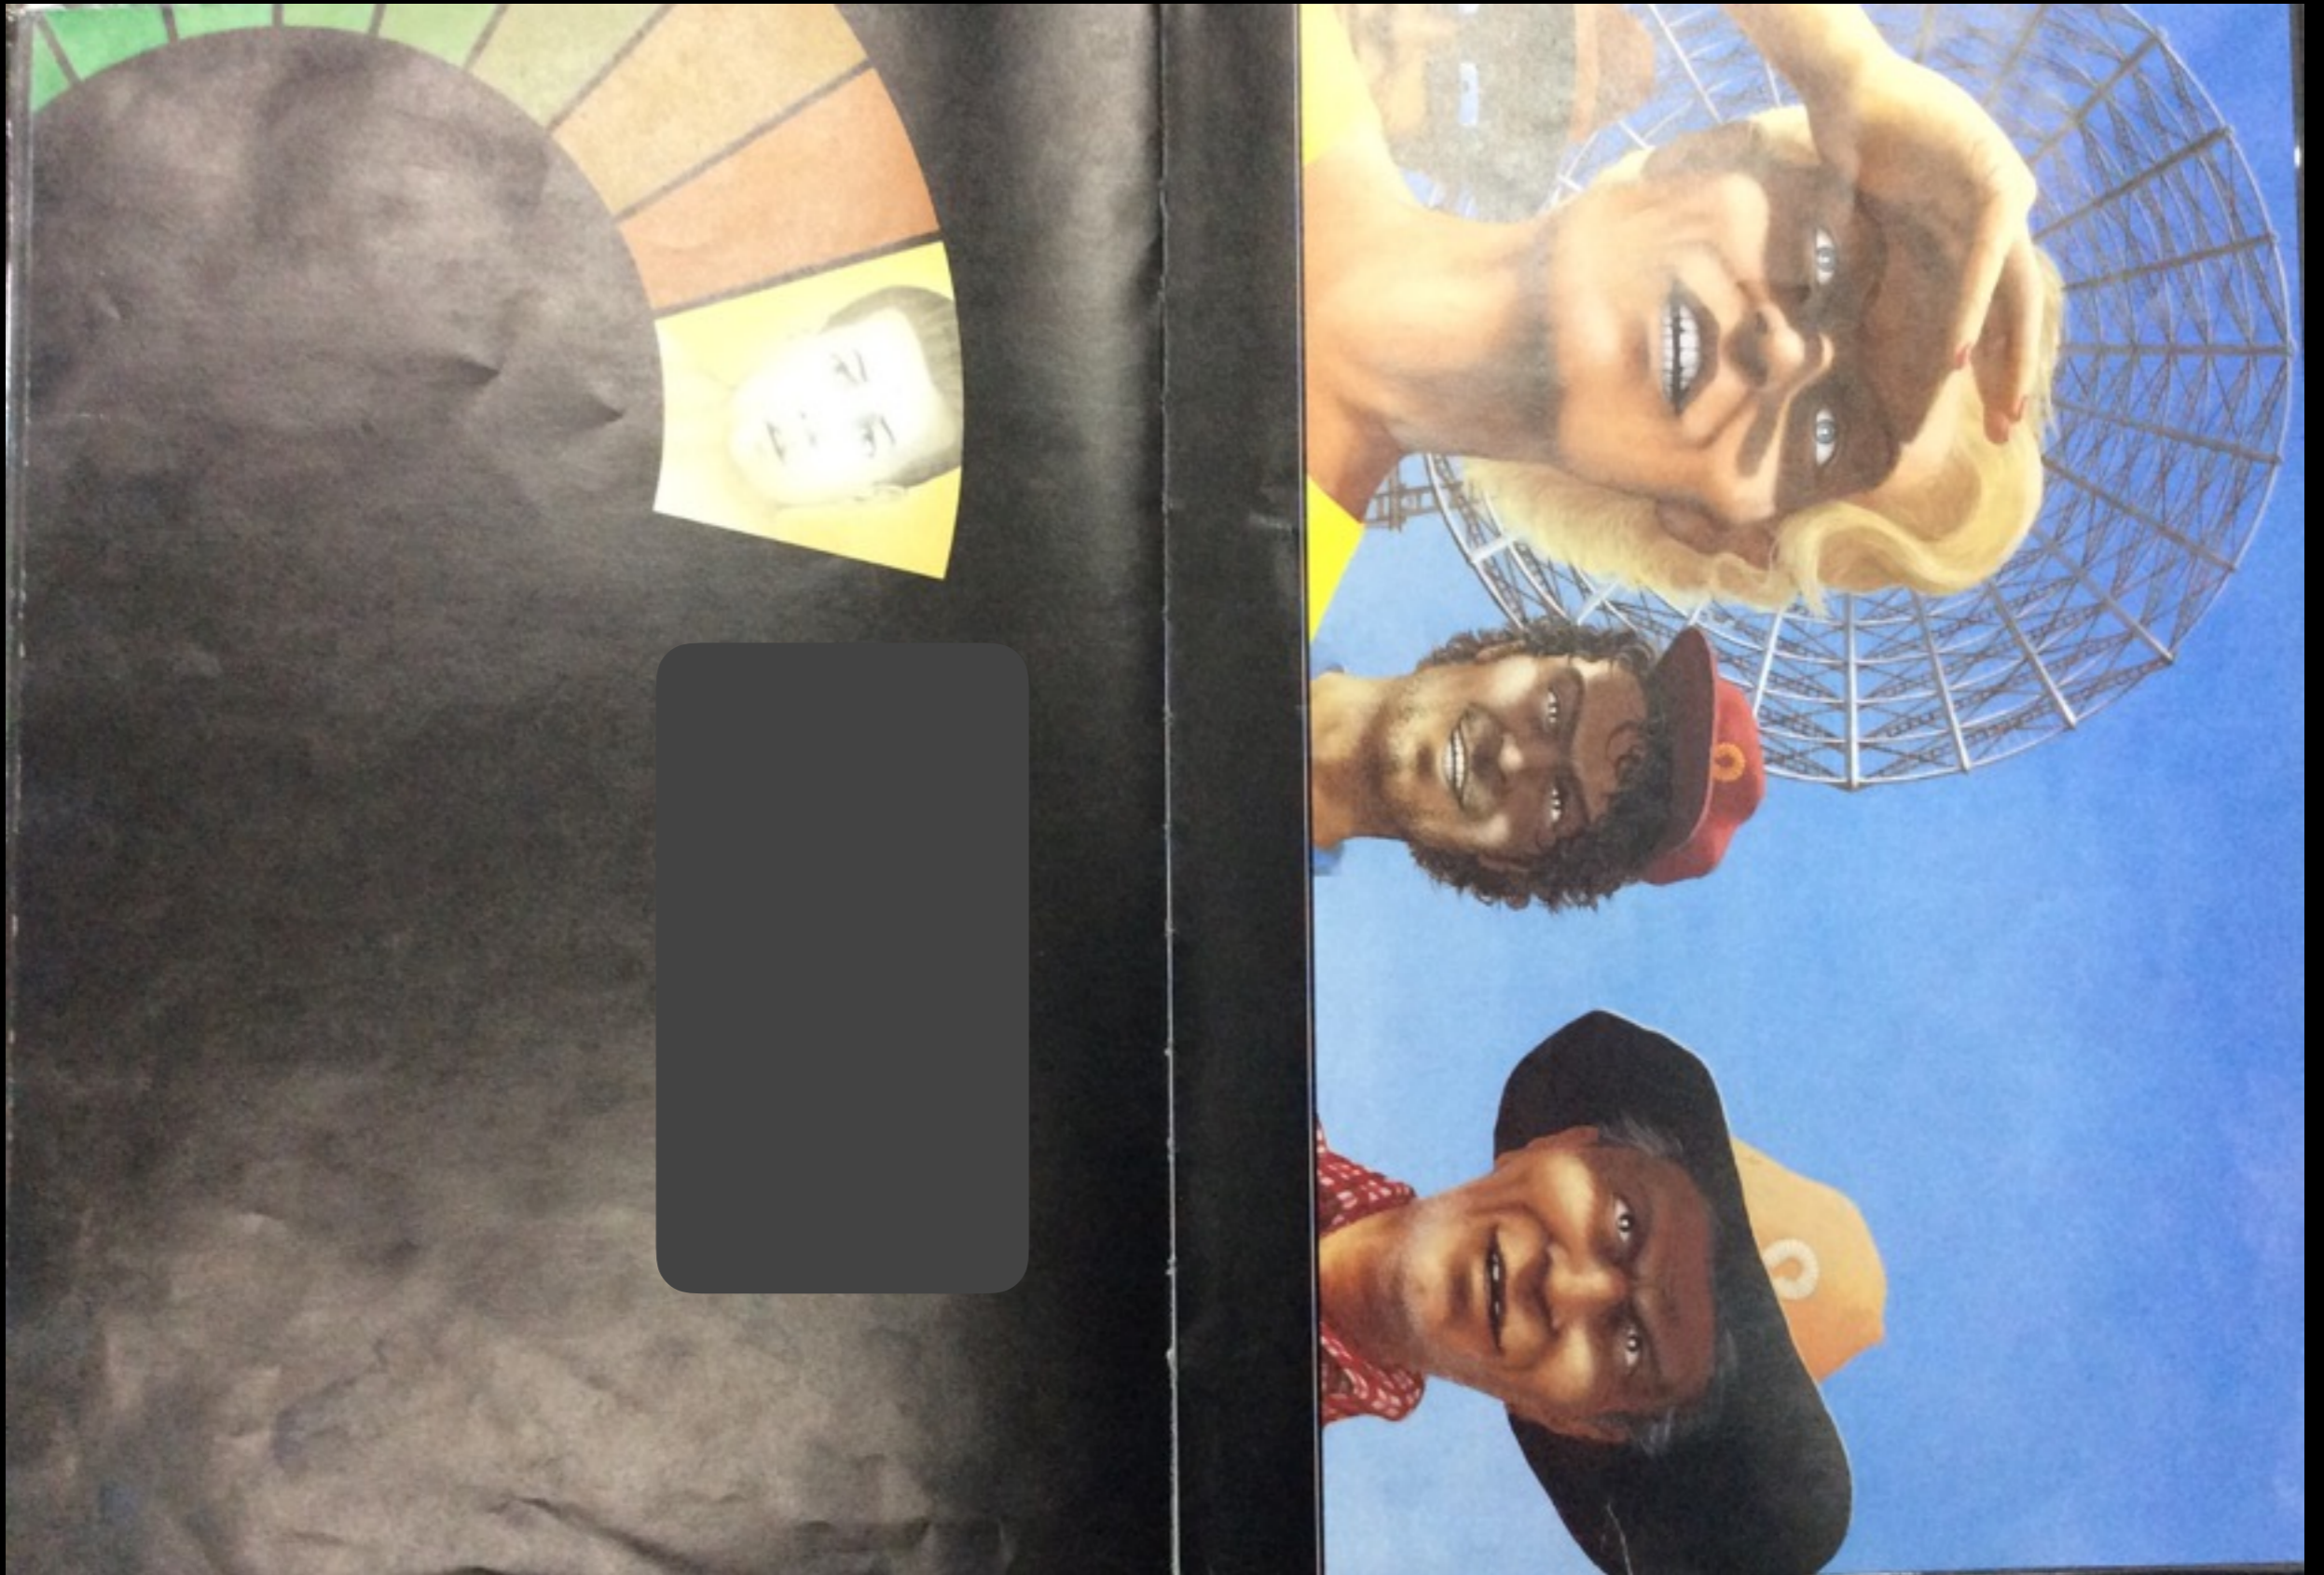

Have you noticed the direction of everyone's stares?

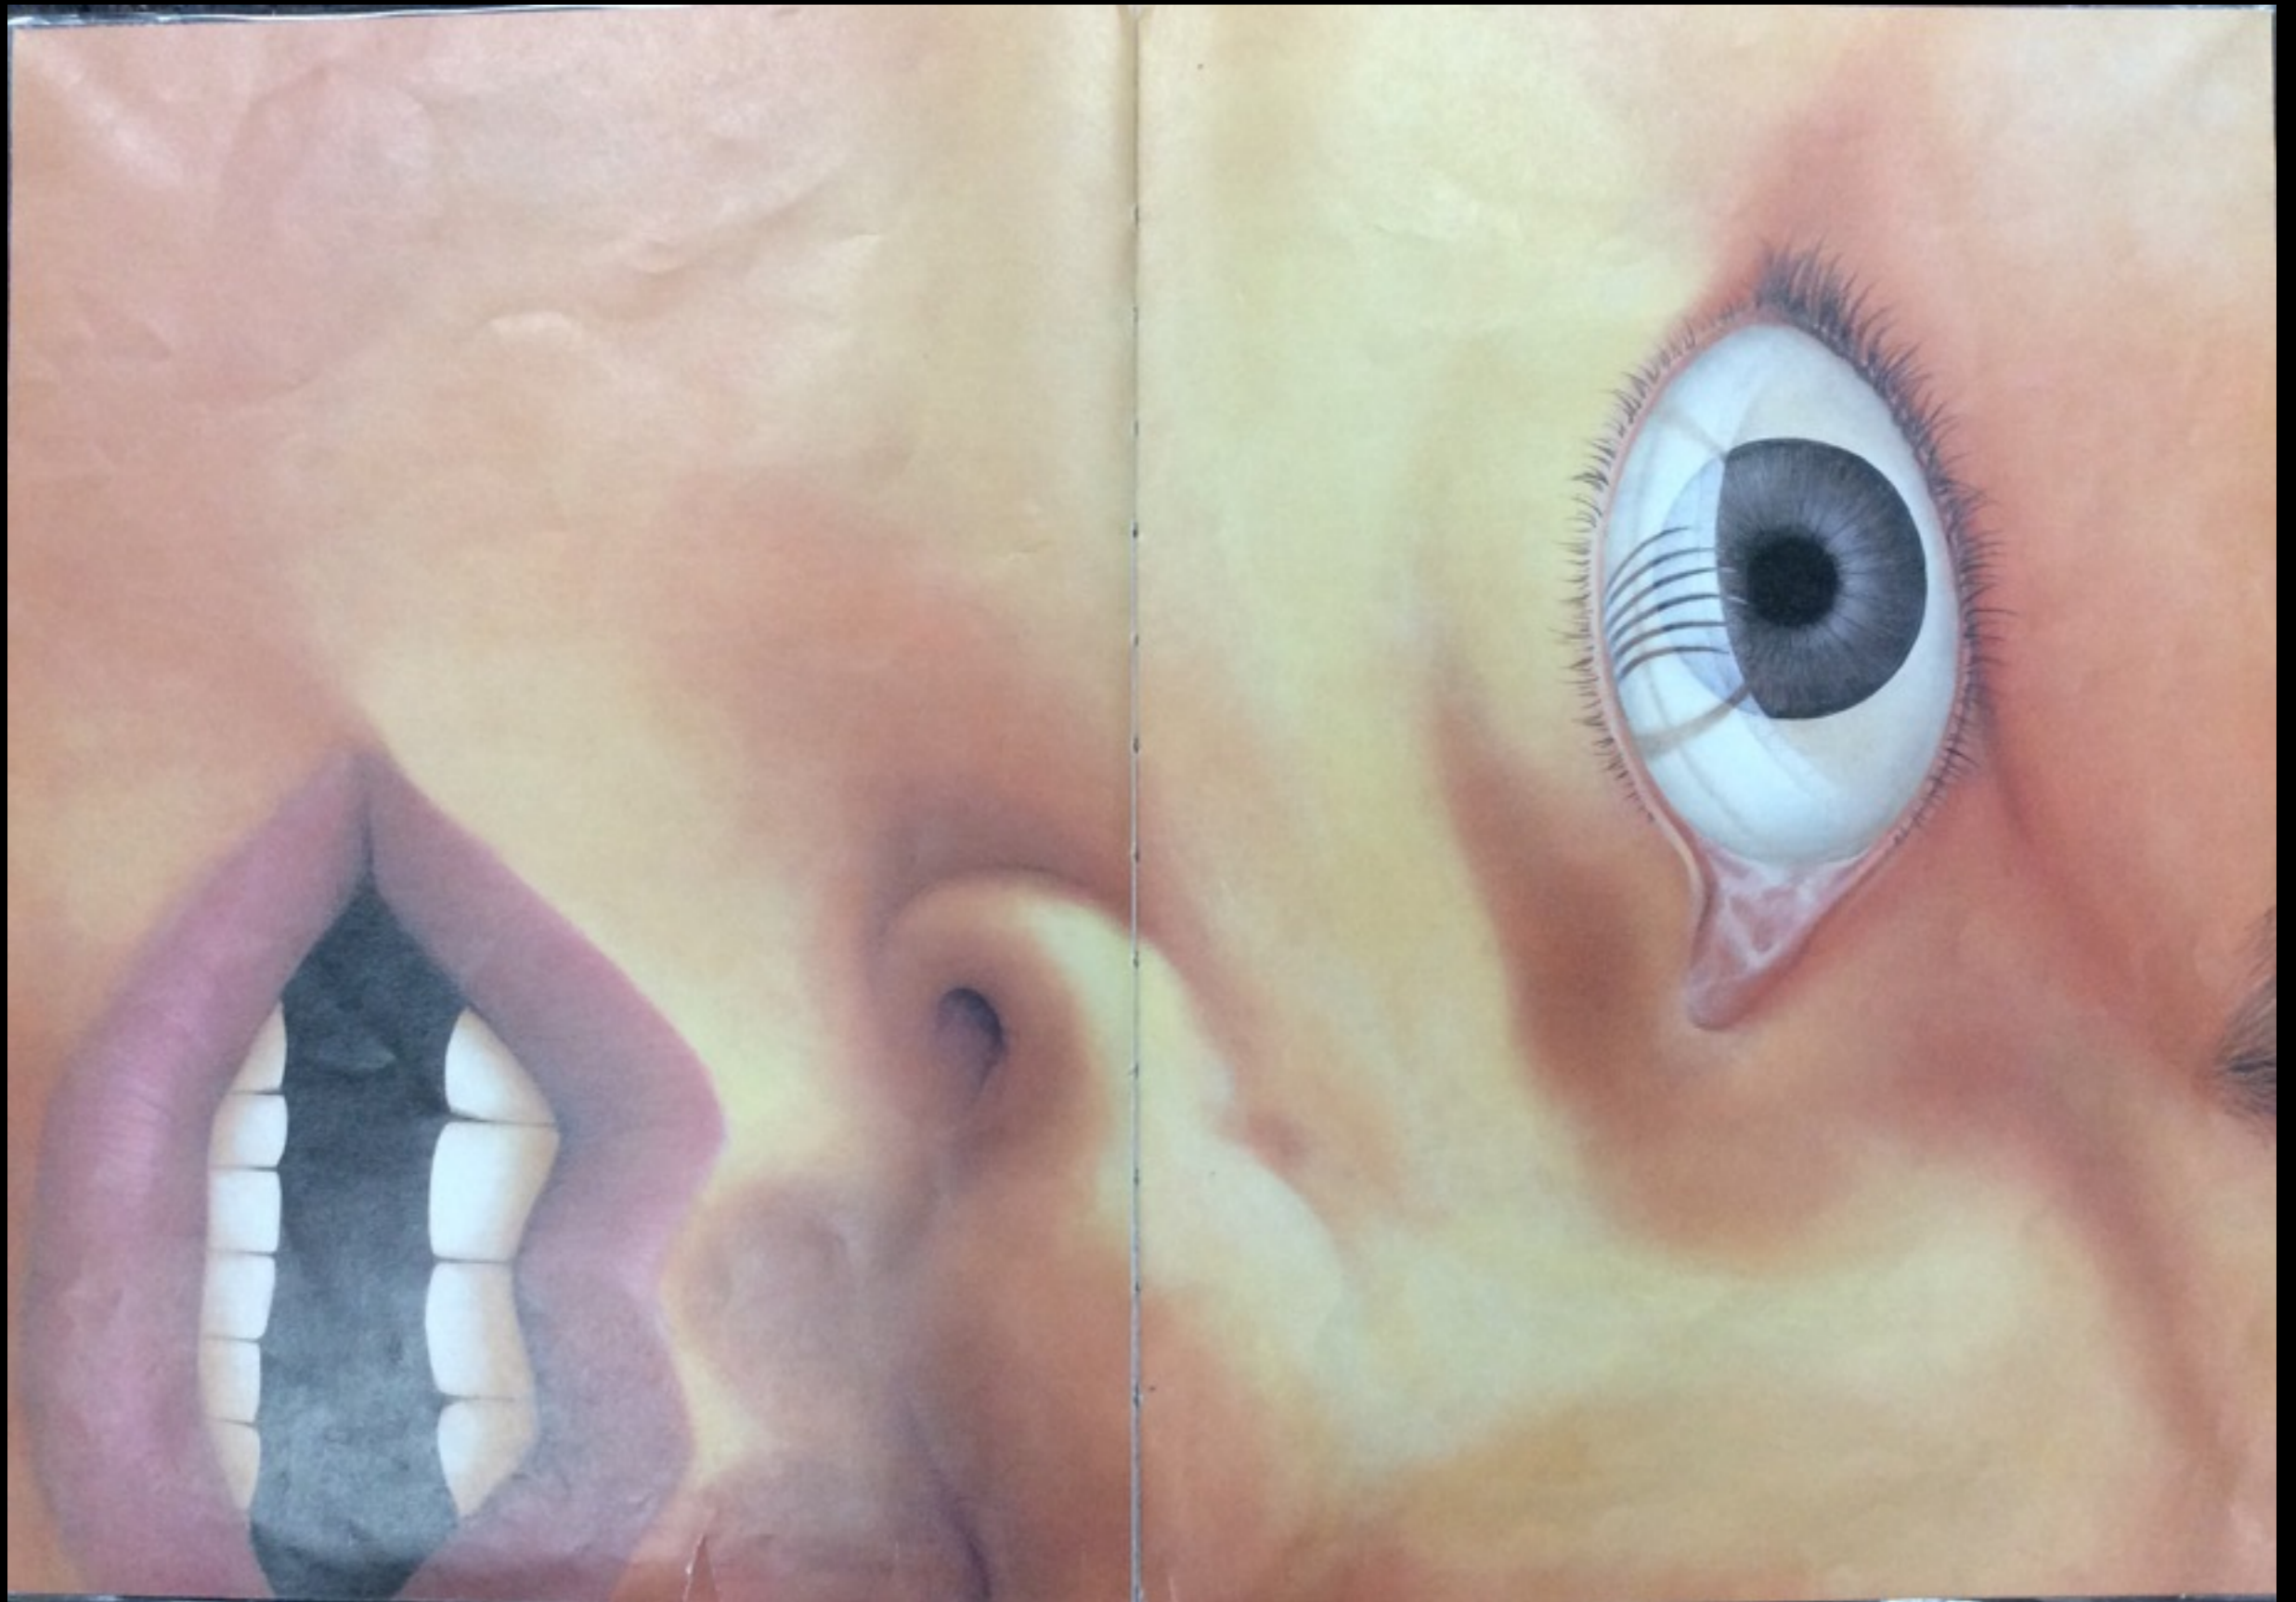

What has happened to the direction of the images?

What do you think they are looking at?

What the?

A refreshing swim or...

All looks ok or is it...
